Foreign Ministers Ask Delay So That Big Four May Come to New York for Meet

PROPOSED BY RUSSIA

BULLETIN
Paris, Sept. 9.—(P)—Great Britain went before the Italian economic commission today to renounce its claims to some $11,000,000,000 in reparations from Italy. It reserved to itself only the right to exercise article 69 of the Italian treaty allowing it to confiscate whatever Italian assets may be found in the United Kingdom and its colonies to satisfy claims for war damage. Some British quarters said the value of the Italian assets at no more than $10,000,000.

Paris, Sept. 9.—(P)—The Foreign Ministers Council, agreeing to postpone the Soviet Russian ask the United Nations general assembly today to postpone for one month its scheduled Sept. 23 meeting in New York to avoid conflict in the Paris peace conference. At the same time informed reporters reported that the foreign ministers had decided to meet in New York next month to present the assembly the peace treaties which the conference is now drafting for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland. The ministers also would begin drafting treaties for Germany and Austria at that time, these quarters said. The United States did not join the request for postponement of general assembly meeting, but not offer any objection. British and American spokesmen said the request, reserving decision pending a telephone conference today between A. V. Alexander, who attended the Foreign Ministers' meeting, and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who returned to London for discussions on Palestine.

France joined with Russia in supporting the move, also favored China and Belgium, who were asked to sit in the Big Four. The ministers' decision was taken at a five-hour meeting which began after U. S. Secretary of State George F. Byrnes' return from Germany.

Immediately after the meeting Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak, Belgium, president of the United Nations General Assembly, read the request by trans-Atlantic telephone to Byrnes, U. N. secretary general, at his headquarters in Lake Success, N. Y. Russia has maintained for some time that the general assembly meeting should be postponed to avoid conflict with the peace conference. Byrnes from the beginning taken the position that the assembly meeting should be held on schedule in order not to detract from the prestige of that organization.

Bulgaria's Young King Loses Throne

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 9.—(P)—The 18-year-old King Simeon II, a boy-king who has been in the figurehead of the Bulgarian government for the last two years, has lost his throne. The government announced today that the king had abdicated in favor of the establishment of a republic. Simeon II, 17, went into exile today. Helping his mother, Queen Maria, to pack, he has expressed assurance that he will soon see his Bulgarian cousins, his grandfather, King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy and many other relatives in Rome.

The regency has ruled the country for Simeon, the only son of the late King Boris III and Queen Maria. The 68-year-old rule of the Coburg family, during which Bulgaria fought three unsuccessful wars, suffered countless casualties, with its dethronation. Yet no Simeon feeling was expressed during the anti-Monarchist campaign because it was institution which the king's enemies hated, not the boy king.

Hope Fades For Averting Power And Light Shutoff At Midnight In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Sept. 9.—(P)—The steel capital nervously got set today for a power strike—due at midnight tonight—which would cramp business and industrial activities affecting approximately 1,500,000 persons in the Pittsburgh area.

Giant steel mills made ready to curtail sheet-rolling operations for lack of mass transportation of workers as well as lack of power. Some trolley runs were due to stop as early as 9 p. m. Trains and buses to suburbs would remain the only public transportation in operation.

Elevators in big business buildings would stop as electricity conservation begins, and street lights would gradually go off in various areas as switches are pulled in the midnight blackout threatened by 3,500 Duquesne Light Company employees involved in a contract dispute.

Refrigeration in homes, stores, hotels and other establishments would go off with the electric current. This, in six to eight days, would endanger more than $44,000,000 worth of food in cold storage. Pittsburgh hospitals, with a total population of 6,000, planned to get by on emergency power units.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 9.—(P)—George L. Mueller, president of the independent Duquesne Light Company employees, said today "the general membership is the only group that can call off" the union's power strike set to begin at midnight tonight.

The company serves electric power to approximately 1,500,000 people in an 817-square mile area in Allegheny and Beaver counties. Mueller said it's "news to him" that the question of arbitration or calling off the strike would be submitted to the union's 50-man general policy committee tonight—four hours ahead of the strike deadline.

Earlier it had been reported that leaders of the union had agreed to let the policy committee decide whether to cancel the strike and accept a company offer to arbitrate the contract-wage dispute. Mayor David L. Lawrence told reporters he was "under the impression" the committee could call off the strike. He had asked Mueller to call the committee to order. Mueller said to have the committee pass on arbitration.

Top union leaders previously had rejected the arbitration proposal, and also had refused a demand made by Lawrence that the union membership vote on arbitration.

Mayor Lawrence, grim and haggard from his night and day labors as a volunteer mediator, said he was advised by the union that the policy committee has the power to nullify the strike vote.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that city officials were investigating the possibility of court action to avert the strike and some quarters indicated an injunction would be sought. At the same time, Sheriff Walter C. Monaghan in Allegheny county urged the company to attempt to continue service in the event of a strike and promised to protect employees who want to work.

Medical authorities warned the power units will be sufficient to provide only emergency hospital service. A joint statement said a strike could mean "a death sentence" to some patients.

Street car transportation will come to a complete stop in the event of a strike but railroads plan to augment commuter trains. The district's major bus lines scheduled regular schedules but looked for capacity loads.

Pittsburgh police will be ordered on 12-hour shifts if the strike comes, and all 125 sub-patrolmen will be called to bolster the 846-man regular force. Two thirds of the men will work nights.

In Harrisburg, Governor Martin kept in close touch with the situation. In response to an inquiry he issued this statement:

MITSCHER IMPROVING

Valetta, Malta, Sept. 9.—(P)—Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's aides said today he was "progressing fine" following an appendicitis operation and probably would board the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt here September 12, en route to the United States.

Body of Missing Woman In Trunk

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(P)—The body of a woman identified by state papers as Joseph L. Downey, 23, of Schenectady, missing since last Tuesday, was found yesterday in the trunk compartment of her automobile in a garage of a summer camp near Otter Lake, 20 miles from here.

Onondaga County Coroner Preston Clark withheld a decision pending an autopsy.

Police Sgt. C. R. Kenton said the woman's body was found with her head hanging out of the trunk just above the exhaust pipe. The ignition switch was turned on, he added.

She was the wife of a General Electric Company employee and mother of a 10-month old son.

Gov. Horace A. Hildreth, seeking his second term, is opposed by F. Davis Clark, Milo Lawyer and army veteran, who won the Democratic nomination. A state veterans' bonus is an issue. Hildreth has advocated the proposed $150 payments but Clark has opposed the method suggested for financing them—a $18,000,000 increase in the state's bonded debt.

Connecticut Republicans, opening a two day convention today, had all arrangements made to nominate Gov. Raymond Baldwin for the senate seat being vacated by the retirement of Senator Thomas C. Hart.

MOONLIGHT TRAGEDY

Wildwood Crest, N. J., Sept. 9.—(P)—John W. Mauchly, 39, a University of Pennsylvania engineering school professor, was released by police after nine hours of questioning in connection with the death of his wife, Mary, 39, who was drowned Saturday midnight and Lincoln in the wreckage, from which they were later extricated.

State Policeman Marvin R. Wilson said Carl was piloting the plane and attempted a forced landing to avoid a heavy cloud formation. In landing, the plane undergear hit a power line and the craft plunged to earth, trapping Carl and Lincoln in the wreckage, from which they were later extricated.

TRIESTE BEING PATROLLED BY ALLIED POLICE

Seven Americans and One
Briton Are Injured During Melee in Disputed City

GORIZIA UNDER GUARD

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Trieste, Sept. 9.—(P)—Armed U. S. and Allied military police patrolled the streets of troubled Trieste today following an outbreak of violence during which they opened fire to disperse a pro-Yugoslav demonstration held in defiance of a military government ban. Seven Americans and one Briton were injured during the melee.

Trieste was declared off limits to all Allied military personnel not on duty in the disputed city. All shore leave was cancelled for men of the U. S. Cruiser Huntington and of several smaller British ships in the harbor.

Police also patrolled Gorizia, 25 miles north of here, where American troops broke up a similar demonstration yesterday. The crowds scattered without serious incident.

The Trieste demonstration, staged in defiance of AMG refusal to grant a permit, was scheduled to coincide with the anniversary of the Venezia Giulia partisan uprising on Sept. 8, 1943—and incidentally with the anniversary of Italian surrender. For several days prior to this incident, the Communist press had openly declared an intention to defy the prohibition.

The seven Americans—six soldiers and Associated Press photographer Daniel Jacino of New York—were wounded when a hand grenade was tossed from a window in the San Giacomo district. A British officer was also reported to have been injured. Jacino suffered a leg wound from a steel fragment. Three soldiers were hospitalized.

A company of American military police raided the house from which the grenade was thrown and arrested two suspects.

The American soldiers who received hospital treatment included Pfc. Frank Mortimer, Brookville, Pa. All three are members of the 88th Division.

It was also reported that at least 12 civilians were injured in the milling crowd as police moved to break up the demonstration. Most of the injuries reported to the police were gunshot wounds.

U. S. military police had been under orders not to use their guns, but apparently thought shots fired by civilian police had been from the demonstrators.

Sylvania Will Start Branch At Clarendon

Announcement was made this morning that the Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., have taken a lease on one of the large brick buildings of the old Tiona Refinery at Clarendon. The structure is to the left of the building being utilized by the Warren Plastic Company. It contains a large amount of floor space and will be immediately repaired and put in shape for use by the Sylvania Company.

The firm will make a number of important alterations in the structure and will occupy it as soon as possible. When complete machinery will be installed for operations in which plastics will be produced. The company anticipates that when in operation the new plant will have about 40 employees. The Liberty street plastic plant of the company will continue in operation. It is expected that as soon as building material is available a new plastics plant will be erected of a large size in this city.

The leasing of this building by the Sylvania Company has roused much interest in Clarendon where the Warren Plastic Company and the Chitester Pottery Company are locating.

PROBE SHOOTING OF GENTLEMAN FARMER

West Chester, Sept. 9.—(P)—Police today investigated the death of Murray Forbes, 40-year-old gentleman farmer and former University of Pennsylvania football player who was shot fatally on his estate near here.

Forbes, who served in the navy and survived an explosion aboard a destroyer in 1943, died last night in Chester county hospital.

State Policemen Maurice Wilherre and Joseph Davoney said Forbes' housekeeper, Mrs. Edith Carr, 40, told them Forbes shot himself in the head as he stood on a few feet from him in a new trailer from the farm-house he bought last spring.

ONE DEAD IN POTTER CO. PLANE ACCIDENT

Coudersport, Sept. 9.—(P)—Lincoln Farnsworth, 31, a brother of television Pioneer Philo T. Farnsworth, was recovering today from injuries suffered in a plane crash that killed another brother, Carl Farnsworth, 35, of Fryburg, Me.

Coudersport Hospital officials said Lincoln's injuries were not serious.

State Policeman Marvin R. Wilson said Carl was piloting the plane and attempted a forced landing to avoid a heavy cloud formation. In landing, the plane undergear hit a power line and the craft plunged to earth, trapping Carl and Lincoln in the wreckage, from which they were later extricated.

OKINAWA VETERAN IS KILLED IN PLANE FALL

Lebanon, Sept. 9.—(P)—A veteran of Okinawa was killed and his brother was seriously injured when a plane they had rented crashed and burned yesterday on a nearby farm.

State Policeman John Lenker said the dead man was Allen B. Miller, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller, of Lebanon, RD. 4. Miller's 36-year-old brother, Ralph, who tried desperately to get Allen out of the plane, is confined to the Lebanon Hospital with head injuries and a fracture of the left leg.

SERIES TICKET SALE

Boston, Sept. 9.—(P)—With elaborate facilities set up to handle the terrific flood of mail, the Boston Red Sox will begin accepting World Series ticket applications at midnight tonight—but the odds are that the public has no better chance than one in 10 of getting a pair of the scarce ducats. Several hundreds of thousands of eager baseball fans will mail their requests, accompanied by a money order or certified check for $12.25, at that time in hopes of getting tickets available for each game.

Democratic Platform Goes Under Scrutiny Wednesday; Republicans Finish Task

Harrisburg, Sept. 9.—(P)—A Democratic platform, written at the "family level," went under final scrutiny of the party's platform state committee.

Democratic state and county leaders will meet here Wednesday to proclaim the party's declaration of principles for the November election campaign only a few days after Republicans completed work on their campaign document.

The Republican platform, adopted Saturday by the party's state committee at Pittsburgh, pledged a "fair and liberal" soldier bonus and called for "further revision and clarification of the unemployment compensation law to correct any inequalities and injustices" and continued efforts "to broaden and liberalize" the workmen's compensation and occupational disease laws.

The Republican 3,000-word platform, containing 23 points, urged a strong fight against communism, opposed the proposed St. Lawrence waterway, socialized medicine and CIO-political action committee which the document termed was "communistic in its leanings."

The C.O.P. platform opposed "discrimination in employment because of sex, race, color or creed" and favored "appropriate legislation for fair employment practices" without detailing specific legislation.

The document likewise approved programs of the Martin administration for construction and expansion of state hospitals but deplored "the fact that execution of the programs have been blocked through the freezing of building materials by the Democratic administration in Washington."

Harrisburg, Sept. 9.—(P)—With the registration lists due to close on Saturday, Sept. 14, the Democratic state campaign committee has intensified its drive to get 2,000,000 new voters enrolled prior to the deadline.

Joseph Yosko, chairman of the committee's resignation campaign, urged veterans of world war two to continue their battle for democracy with "ballots instead of bullets."

Braden immediately reported discovery of the woman and child to Harvey Foster, agent in charge of the federal bureau of investigation at Indianapolis. Foster said the description tallied with that of the Tobias child.

Los Angeles Girl Is 1946 Miss America

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 9.—(P)—Marilyn Buford of Los Angeles, who failed to win any of the preliminary competitions here, held the title today of Miss America, 1946.

An eight weeks movie contract at $500 a week awaited her in California, beauty pageant officials said, and she held the pageant's top award of a $5,000 scholarship.

The 21-year-old, blue-eyed, brown haired girl winner Saturday night of the annual beauty pageant, was advised by Dr. Guy E. Snively of Washington, D. C., executive director of the Association of American Colleges, to leave the University of California at Los Angeles where she is a student and use her scholarship for dramatic training. She said she would enroll for a three-months course in a New York dramatic school.

Snively also advised the 18 runners up on how to employ the total of $20,000 in scholarships which they received.

The new Miss America who represented California weighs 123 pounds, and has these other measurements: bust—35½ inches; waist—25½; hips—36 inches.

The finalists include "Miss Pennsylvania," Eleanor D. Kramer, of Lebanon.

Both the Schrag and Collingwood cars were demolished.

OPA Ceilings Back on Canned Meats, Lard and Shortening

Washington, Sept. 9.—(P)—OPA ceiling tags go back on canned meats, lard and shortening today.

Tomorrow they return to fresh meat, thus completing the farm-to-consumer chain started when the price decontrol board ordered livestock products brought back under price control.

OPA has not announced a comparison of the new canned meats ceilings with June 30 prices, but lard is due to average five and one half cents a pound more and

LEADER OF 90,000 SEAMEN SAYS MEN WILL NOT RETURN UNTIL DISPUTE IS ADJUSTED

Presidential Secretary Says Chief Executive Is Taking
No Direct Hand In Efforts To End
Crippling Stoppage In Harbors

LABOR OFFICIAL MAKES VAIN TRIP TO COAST

Washington, Sept. 9.—(P)—Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said today President Truman is taking no direct hand in the efforts to end the crippling shipping strike. Asked by reporters whether there was any news on the strike at the White House, Ross replied: "Not this morning." To a question regarding a published report that the post office department had sent to the White House a formula for settling the strike, Ross replied that he knew of no such plan.

By The Associated Press
The greatest shipping strike in the nation's history continued its strangulation of international commerce and many domestic industries today after hope for a truce was given up by a labor department mediator in San Francisco.

Harry Lundberg, leader of the 90,000 striking AFL seamen, whose picket lines are being respected by another 400,000 AFL and CIO seamen, stevedores and other maritime workers, reiterated that his men would not return to work until wage cuts ordered by the War Stabilization board are scrapped.

Lundberg, president of the striking sailors union of the Pacific and the Seafarers International Union, said in a radio address that the waterfront would continue "until the politicians in Washington" approve the wage increases the SIU and SUP negotiated with the shipowners.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Philip Hannah, who flew from Washington to see Lundberg in the hope of arranging a truce, announced after the last several meetings with the union leader that he had been unsuccessful in his negotiations and was leaving at once for Washington.

The War Stabilization Board is scheduled to meet tomorrow in Washington to reconsider its Aug. 23 ruling limiting AFL seamen to wage increases of $17.50 monthly—the amount awarded to CIO seamen. The AFL unions had negotiated increases with shipowners of $22.50 on the west coast and $27.50 on the east coast.

Between 1,500 and 1,600 deep water ships were paralyzed by the strike as it went into its fifth day and 400 tugboats in New York harbor were tied up at their piers.

The cessation of tugboat activity was an added blow to industries and consumers in New York, already crippled by a strike of truck drivers which has slowed industrial activity and reduced food supplies.

The Association of American Railroads announced the shipping strike had caused 5,000 loaded freight cars to become idle.

In San Francisco, the SUP announced it had received an offer of financial support from John L. Lewis, president of the AFL United Mine Workers, in a congratulatory message which termed the stabilization board "that economic boars' nest."

The strike already has resulted in shortages of many consumer and industrial items in New York and companion stoppages have terminated deliveries of raw materials and finished goods along the east coast.

The compromise plan, advanced by Mayor William O'Dwyer and turned down by the operators earlier, provided for an 18½ cents an hour wage increase, paid vacations and shortening of the work week from 44 to 40 hours.

TURKEY GROWERS OF STATE DISCOURAGED

Harrisburg, Sept. 9.—(P)—Largely because of the high cost and scarcity of quality feed, Pennsylvania's farmers will produce approximately 58,000 less turkeys this year than last, state agriculture secretary Miles Horst forecast today.

Many growers, he added in a statement, have advised him this will be their last year in the turkey business because of the uncertain feed outlook.

Turkey growers early this year announced intentions to equal the record 1945 production of 1,670,000 birds. A federal-state survey showed they are coming through with 1,586,900, a drop of five per cent, but still 300,000 better than 1944, Horst added.

SEEING EYE FOUNDER DIES
New York, Sept. 9.—(P)—Mrs. Darby H. Eustis, founder of the Seeing Eye Inc. which has supplied 1,300 dogs to sightless persons, died at her home here yesterday. Mrs. Eustis founded the agency at Morristown, N. J., in 1929 after studying experiments in Europe in the use of dogs to guide persons blinded in the first World War.

Report was also made to the police of an attempt to enter the C. C. Smith Garage. A screw driver was evidently used but the thief failed to gain admission.

Earl Rossmann, 1111 Scherist street, arrested on an assault charge confessed to passing several rubber checks and money wired to the police here was used to cover checks of $28, $38 and $42 which he had issued with no funds to meet them.

Four girl pickets of the strikers group at the Sunray Electric Plant were arraigned before Justice Greenlund as the result of holding a girl worker who wished to enter the plant. The girl, Doris Wordinger, 424 Chestnut street, appeared and May and Irene Stanek, Cottage Avenue, Sheffield, Genevieve Gurdak, Spring Creek and Jane Ustach, 38 Locust street, each paid a fine of $5 and costs.

The UE Union paid the fine and costs.

At the meeting of the sportsmen of the Northwestern Division composed of nine counties in Pennsylvania Frank M. Geer, of North Warren was chosen as chairman of the group for the coming year. R. D. Evans, of Clarendon was chosen as vice president; Seth L. Myers, of Sharon was chosen secretary and H. S. Gates, of Sharon, treasurer.

There were about 50 men of the division in attendance at the meeting which was held at the club house of the Kalbfus Game Club near Clarendon. The men came to Warren early and toured the game feeding establishment on the Game Lands made by the Game Commission. A trip was also made to the big timber in Hearts Content and the Farnsworth rearing pools were also visited. The efforts being made by the sportsmen of this section to better the game life won much comment and many compliments were given the county sportsmen.

State Game Commissioner Robert Lamberton, of Franklin was present and he spoke briefly. Fish Commissioner Clifford Welsh, of Erie and W. M. Roberts, of New Castle were also present. Commissioner Roberts has been making an investigation of the pollution that took place on the Allegheny river above Warren some weeks ago. Roberts and the State Game Commission feel that the pollution took place in New York state instead of at Eldred, although the sanitary water board feels the pollution came at Eldred.

Dinner was served in the evening by the Warren Field and Stream Club with Frank Reese in charge and this feature proved a happy one.

Plans For Offering Vets Educational Opportunities

Considerable discussion here and in other communities concerning proposed educational opportunities for returned veterans of World War II, has led to an investigation of the local set-up for such schooling in elementary and high school levels.

It is learned that last February the local board of education set up two programs for veterans' schooling. Under the first, those GIs who had finished school as far as sophomore grade, with American History and three years of English, could take their GE tests and be graduated. The program proposed by the state department of public instruction permit them a diploma under such circumstances, although said diploma would not admit them to some colleges.

Under the second proposal, any veteran who had completed elementary or high schooling could register and the board would supply, without any cost to him, instruction material and instruction through correspondence courses.

At that time, the number of youths to be considered under such a program was comparatively small. On August 28, a meeting was held at the high school building and an effort made to reach all veterans interested in furthering their educational opportunities. None of those reporting was interested in the elementary school level, but 23 persons registered with Principal F. B. Ebert as desirous of completing high school work.

A program to meet the needs of these men is being worked out and each will be contacted by letter from Mr. Bathurst. The work has necessarily been held up by the fall opening of regular day-school classes, but another meeting has been set for Tuesday, September 17, when all interested in night-school classes are urged to be on hand. Again, all veterans interested in study on either the elementary or high school levels are urged to be in attendance. As at the August 28th meeting, an effort will be made on the 17th to establish classes to meet following day-school sessions or in the evening.

In response to the question of why these returned vets are not admitted to regular day-school classes, school officials here state the practice has been tried out elsewhere and has not worked out satisfactorily for several reasons. Those veterans who are sincerely interested in the educational opportunities offered them are not satisfied to move along with younger pupils, because of their added years and wartime experiences, and those who do not have such serious intentions may prove a demoralizing influence in the regular day-time classroom.

Warren school officials, in common with others all over the country, are sincerely interested in lending an educational hand to these young men who were called from classes to service in the armed forces. However, the veterans themselves should be the ones most interested in one of the three programs proposed for them and every such person should be at the high school on September 17 to register for one of the three: GE tests, correspondence classes or the group night-school set-up.

McKenney On Bridge

America's Card Authority

The success of the summer session of the national championship tournament, held at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn, N. Y., indicates that tournament bridge is fast becoming one of America's favorite competitive pastimes. The first event on the program was the national amateur team-of-four championship, in which an attendance record was established when 25 teams entered.

Winners were Charles Lembeck, Dr. K. Apfel, Oscar Yablon and Lawrence Bluh, all of New York. Winning this event advanced Mr. Lembeck to the rating of national master, as he has won points in several other team events.

Lembeck's bid of two hearts in today's hand was a definite psychic. He did not have to worry about it, because if it were doubled, he would return to two spades. He hoped that the psychic bid would induce the opponents to play the hand at no trump, which they might lose, instead of a heart contract which they probably could make.

Lembeck opened his partner's suit, and when declarer held off until the third round, Lembeck unblocked his king of spades.

Declarer then ran off five heart tricks. On the third heart, Lembeck discarded the seven of diamonds, indicating that he wanted a diamond played. On the next heart he discarded the deuce of clubs.

Declarer fell for the trap. Instead of taking the diamond finesse, he led the queen of clubs and let it ride. Lembeck returned a spade, so he and his partner took four spade tricks and a club, setting the contract.

Had Lembeck discarded the deuce of clubs at his first opportunity, a smart declarer would have read that he was false-carding the club suit. But by indicating a high diamond first, and then discarding the deuce and eight of clubs, Lembeck made it difficult to read. Five hearts was cold on the hand.

Interesting Letter From Warren Resident In Poland

Many friends of Marie Flohr will be interested in his comments on Poland, its people and others with whom he comes in contact in his Red Cross field work, as found in the following excerpts from a recent letter:

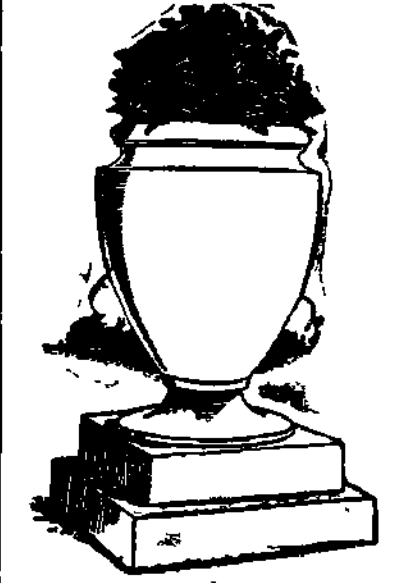

"... besides being the port of Poland, I also cover an area in all directions from here, for a distance of about 150 miles. My main duty, of course, is receiving our shipments at the two ports of Gdynia and Danzig. They are about 15 miles apart and I live at a little town called Sopot, which is also on the coast and midway between the two ports.

"Sopot is the chief seaside resort of Poland and at this particular time of year is jammed with people, as this is the first summer since 1939 they have been permitted to come here. Most of the other Americans, such as UNRRA, ships agents, etc., live here and also a few British and other nationals. The hotel where we are staying now just opened July 27. At one time it was considered one of the best hotels in Poland. It is such an improvement over the other place we were staying that we are still thrilled with it, particularly the hot water and bath, something we didn't have before.

"I haven't picked up much of the language as yet. They don't use vowels like we do, but long groupings of letters like SZCZYN. For example, PRZYJAZEC means friend, but how would you pronounce it? Here are some more examples: Egg, JAJKO; milk

"There is real need in this country, but the big problem is to get the help to the people that actually need it. In other words: It is plenty for a few and nothing for many. We brought in a few thousand food packages but they never get past the few favored government officials, so we stopped that immediately and what we are bringing in now is entirely medicine, hospital supplies and clothing. The clothing is distributed to only the needy and we get a receipt from each person who receives anything. We have brought in about $5,000,000 worth of medical supplies and clothing thus far and there is another $1,000,000 on the way. The big job at the port is to see that the cargo is unloaded and not all of it stolen, because pilfering is terrible.

"I really do feel sorry for this country. It has been overrun by troops since 1939, first by the Germans and now by the Russians. The Russians have thousands of troops here yet, living off the land and sending back to Russia all else they can get their hands on."

New Manager For Personal Finance Co

Fred R. Smith, was appointed manager of the Personal Finance Company, 212 Liberty street, it was announced today. He succeeds Russell L. Kimberland, who has left this office to become manager of our office in McKeesport, Pa.

Mr. Smith, the new manager, has been associated with the Personal Finance Company for the past five years. He was employed at the Butler, Pa., office before coming to Warren. His appointment is a result of the company's policy in widening the scope of its loan service here.

Mr. Smith is a veteran of World War II with four years' service to his credit. He served in the army and was stationed in Europe with the 36th Division Finance Department.

"The usefulness of institutions devoted to the problem of financing the average wage-earner," Mr. Smith said today, "has become increasingly apparent in the past few years. About 85 per cent of the families in America do not have access to bank credit—and it is to supply their wants that the Personal Finance Company has been constantly expanding its facilities and services."

"There are many legitimate reasons why the average wage-earner requests a small loan," he said. "The payment of a hospital bill—the need for a sum of cash to tide a family over an emergency period—the payment of accumulated bills—these and many other reasons are justification enough for us to make loans on a sound, businesslike basis at 'Personal'."

"We have been saying 'Yes' to our customers for many years and we'll continue to do so. The record shows that four out of 5 who ask for a loan get one. We're proud of that record and we intend to live up to it in Warren."

SET YOUR SIGHTS

It takes a lot of planning to hit a target... even more to achieve a goal

There are two kinds of young men. One knows what he wants to do and goes after it. The other is still looking for his niche. The new Regular Army can help both of them.

Suppose, for example, that you're the first kind. You want to go to college but don't have the money. If you enlist in the new Regular Army, you'll have a chance to earn while you learn. Honorably discharged at the end of a three-year enlistment, you are eligible for 48 months of education at any college, trade, or business school for which you can qualify. The U. S. Government will pay your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year, and you'll get $65 a month living allowance—$90 a month if you have dependents.

Or maybe you're the man who hasn't found his spot. An enlistment in the Army will put you in touch with the widest selection of jobs. Army schools offer special training in over 200 trades and skills. When you leave the service you can continue your training at the school best equipped to help you.

Set your sights! Enlist in the new Regular Army. You can assure yourself of the benefits of the GI Bill of Rights if you enter the Army on or before October 5, 1946. See your nearest Army Recruiting Station for details.

Presbyterian Rites On Saturday Unite Mary M. Corbett and Neal H. Johnson

White gladioli, with palms, and white tapers in candelabra were set in artistic decoration of the Presbyterian church on Saturday afternoon, when Dr. Harold C. Warren performed the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Mary M. Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Corbett, 7 North avenue, and Neal H. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Johnson, 20 Glenwood street. Jackson Barrell was at the organ. Traditional wedding marches led to play the guests assembled. The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Mrs. William T. Moore, with Sara Ann Moore as flower girl. Allen Johnson as his brother's best man and hers were William Moore, Edward Branch, Gordon Gerould, Warren, and Dr. George D. Hopkins, Richmond, Va. For her bridal gown, Miss Corbett chose white marquisette, with fitted skirt edged to match her trims and bonnet. Her arm bouquet was of white roses. Mrs. Moore wore a green sprigged tulle over white marquisette skirt with a matching bonnet, and carried yellow roses. Miss Sara Ann wore a white organdy frock and carried a colonial bouquet. Others of the principals had rose bouquets. Mrs. Corbett with blue eyes and brown accessories; and Mrs. Johnson in gold crepe with black accessories. A reception for 85 guests followed at the Corbett home, where appointments centered about a wedding cake and bouquets.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Bortzer, Tidioute, and was graduated from the high school at that place in 1939. She spent a year at Edinboro State Teachers College before going to Whittier. Mr. Collett is a civil engineer, employed in Bakersfield. Following his graduation from the University of California at Berkeley, he spent four years in the army. Arrangements of rose hibiscus, burgundy dishes and white candles made an effective setting for the luncheon, which was served in the garden. News of the engagement was revealed by verses inscribed beneath pictures of the betrothed pair. The wedding date is set for April.

DRAGONS WIN KANE OPENER; SOCIAL CLUBBERS OVER SONS

IVE LOCAL PLAYERS SCORE THROUGH LINE AGGRESSION; CONFIDENT IN TODAY'S TILT

The Warren High school grid-iron opened their 1946 season by topping the Kane Wolves, 33-0. Kane Saturday afternoon with the beautiful August weather at we missed that month show-up.

Dave Lopez, left halfback who is out of action in the inter-lad games, made some beautiful plays in the game, keeping up his regular pace of last year.

The local squad did very nice in its first game of the season, getting 15 first downs on the offense, allowing only 2 on the defense. Twenty-five local gridgers made a journey and all of them saw the second taking over towards the end of the game and counting for six points.

The Dragons were biting off big chunks in their gains and were able to kick only five times.

The first score started when the Wolves on the 10 yard line and forced them to punt out to the thirty-yard line. Frank Shanshala took the play around right end down the ten. Lopez's plunge off the line and Leonard's plunge took the ball down to the one. Dave Lopez scored on a plunge followed by Ed Leonard's bid for the point which was successful.

Again a forced punt started the game, this time a 40 yard kick that settled on the Dragons' forty. Two plunges netted six yards for the locals, then Dave Lopez scampered off tackle for fifteen yards taking the ball to the Wolves' forty-five. At least two tacklers hit Lopez, but he entered enemy territory. A verse play from Lopez to Shanshala, who carried it around left to the nineteen yard line. Ed Leonard then took it the rest of the way on a right end run assisted by beautiful blocking. Lopez ended left end for the point, ending the score at 14-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The Dragons scored six more points before the half ended, the boys making them well-earned. The Wolves were holding the Dragons to smaller gains in that quarter but the locals managed

RED JACKETS PRACTICE ON MEATY FIELD

The Red Jackets Semi-Pro football team had a beautiful turnout yesterday afternoon at their first scrimmage, but the "meat" of players in uniform was slightly under the two team mark.

Sides of the practice field were lined with fans for the first time in four years. Twenty sky musclemen were in uniform for the scrimmage but "Rosie" topped them short at the end of twenty minutes scrimmage and sent them through plays to get them back in the groove after four years of rest.

More newcomers who signed up last week for the team are: Murphy, from Jamestown, played in Duke University and also in the New York Yankees of the American Football League; Joe Sreen, Clarion, played with the Yankees and under Kirby of the Pittsburgh Pirates; a 300 pound halfback who is working here, played with many teams in the Brooklyn area; Art McEwan, a back from Warren High school, has two years former experience with the Jackets.

The Red Jacket managers are going to book a team for a boost game for next Sunday afternoon, but as yet no definite game has been booked. Rumor has it that the Jackets may meet the Youngville Semi-Fros but that rumor has not been confirmed.

to eke out enough yards to make the first downs. A pass from Lopez to Duckett brought the ball to the Wolves' twenty-four, then Lopez started on another of his broken field trips that took him to the nine. Two plunges by Duckett placed the ball on the one foot line, followed by Elmer Dutchess' left end run that brought him over the goal without an opposing player within ten feet of him. Shanshala's try for the point was short of the goal.

A Dragon bid for a score fell through in the third when the Dragons fumbled on the Kane ten and the Wolves recovered.

In the last stanza Elmer Dutchess captured the ball for the locals by intercepting a pass on the Kane's forty-two. A reverse pass was gathered in by Elmer Mellander on the twenty. Duckett's pass to Kuhre netted ten and two plunges brought the ball to the one yard line. Frankie Shanshala went off tackle for the score and Dutchess plunged through the center for the point.

The seconds took over and scored six points in the last quarter. Phil Johnson gave the local seconds the chance by recovering a fumble on the Kane twenty-eight. A series of plunges gave the locals a first down eighteen yards from the goal. Shattuck's right end run and Fischer's plunge left the ball on the one. Kuhre took it over for the score.

At 4:00 this afternoon the Dragons meet the Youngville Eagles at Russell Field. All season tickets will be honored at this game, which starts a three-game home stand. Next Saturday Franklin will come to Warren and Titusville the following week.

THREE IN A ROW GIVES MARCONI CLUB PLAYERS HIGH HONORS IN SOFTBALL LEAGUE

The Marconi Club softballers took over the City Softball League championship by knocking off the Sons of Italy club in a best-of-five series, the last being a 6-3 win Friday night at the West Side with close to 400 softball fans looking on.

Bill Brown was a good example of the superior hitting displayed by the Social clubbers, getting a single, a triple and a homer for his four chances at bat. Bonavita, Ponsoli, and Morrison each tallied two bingles for the winners while Check, R. Ritchie and "Chippie" Zingone scored two for the losers.

Each of the playoff teams had won a half in the league. The Marconi boys took the first half mainly by virtue of two wins over the close running Sons of Italy and the Sons clinched the second stanza by knocking off the Marconi men twice, so that left the two teams on an even keel when they met for the playoffs.

Milt Dahler singled to start the ball rolling for the first score collected by the Marconi boys in the last of the second. Dahler wended his way to third and made it home after a fly was caught in the outfield. Nick Russo then struck out the next two men to squelch the rally. The Marconi boys came right back in the next frame to score three more. Bill Brown turned the trick for the clubbers by smashing out a home run over the fielders' heads and rounding the sacks in no time flat with "Happy" Albaugh and Milt Dahler aboard. Again in the fifth Brown knocked in a run, this time on a triple Tony Bonavita was riding the sacks when Brownie hits his three bagger. The hit made his total three runs knocked in and one scored himself out of six runs made by his team.

With the count riding at five and nothing, the Sons countered with three in the seventh inning. Ray Ritchie doubled followed by a single by Zingone which scored Ritchie. They Font doubled

3 Day Special Doe Season Considered In Kane Meeting

(Taken from MacLiot's column in the Bradford paper)

Representatives from Sportsmen's Clubs of McKean and Forest Counties met at Kane with a similar delegation from Warren County recently at the request of the latter, to consider the possibility for a three-day special doe season of either fall or precede the regular buck season.

The Warren County Sportsmen, headed by F. M. Geer, really want such a season badly. They have been assured by Selma Gordon, executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, that they can have one if the majority of that county's sportsmen approve. Apparently Warren sportsmen do approve, the drawback is the concentration of hunters sure to deluge that county unless they can get Forest and McKean Counties to go along with them.

The meeting was called on such short notice that it was impossible to gauge accurately the sentiment of McKean County sportsmen, but the representatives from Forest County left no doubt of the negative attitude of that county's hunters. They want no part of such a season.

Few of McKean's representatives would even express personal approval nor could they speak for their clubs. Several halfheartedly approved of a special doe season

SPORTS STUFF

The return to Warren of semi-professional football is another step towards establishing this town as a bustling sports center. The Red Jackets have a well-established reputation throughout western Pennsylvania and southwestern New York state as being one of the finest outfits in the grid game. And now that the huskies are at the task of preparing for the first post-war season, fans will welcome the Sunday afternoon encounters. Few people realize what a job the local lads have in attempting to place an eleven on the field which will equal or better Red Jackets of years past, but with the exceptional local talent and a few outsiders the Jackets will perform well.

Here and There But Jeanette, the Fort Wayne Zollner's crack pro cager for the past two seasons, has severed his connections with the Indiana outfit to accept a post as player-coach of the Baltimore Bullets in the American Professional Cage League. Jeanette began a top-flight career at Washington and Jefferson College with Bill Laughlin. Both played here before going into the big time. Laughlin, coach at Washington, Pa. High School this season. And sparring of W. & J. Jack Eaton, the stellar Dragon center of last season, will be on the basketball roster there when November rolls around. Harold Brown, former Dragon and Red Jacket back, has returned to Alfred University to resume football activities. Other local players who will see college action this season include Bill Dove at Edinboro, Weller Meyer at Franklin and Marshall, Jack Hamilton at Eastern. Johnny Nelson, the Bradford Era sports scribe, predicts that this season will mark a finale to the coaching career of J. B. Leiding. However, we think Johnny has missed the boat on that one.

Youngville gridgers were predicting over the weekend a victory over the Blue and Whites at Russell Field this afternoon. The horse show at the Youngville Fair was one of the finest in many years, and exhibitors from miles around were on hand to show their horses. Rain, however, cancelled a few of the events on Saturday afternoon. It appears as though bowling will continue as a major sport in Warren this winter. Leagues are already making initial plans for a top-flight season. And basketball is already on the mind of Dragon mentor Jon Massa as well as independent league supporters. Massa expects a truckload of trouble from Franklin and Titusville, expected to be the two top clubs in Section Two come cage time. Al Babcock and Jim Eaton, both ex-high school court

About 150 cards have been returned by Elk members who desire to participate in leagues bowling this season. The alleys open September 21, and the leagues will get under way the week following.

THE MATERNAL INSTINCT

By Dorothy Staley

Chapter 4
LILLIE had met Pud O'Dell, and had sensed for the first time some definite means of accomplishing the things she wanted for Violet. Pud was thirty-three, fifteen years older than Lillie, but he had been a prize fighter of good repute and had made money. Then his father had died not long before and left him the biggest hotel in Bradford City's East End, or East Bradford as it was more familiarly called. Juville considered Pud "well-heeled." There was more money in the Posey household now for Lillie, William and Henry that year would start being an apprentice in the mill, but it was a slow, laborious way of accomplishment and not what Lillie wanted. So Lillie and Pud began to "go steady," and to all of Juville's seemed like a good match.

To Lillie, it was the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and yet the ending, or rather the accomplishment of all that she had wanted, or planned or wished for. Those things which she had been certain she could accomplish and yet for which she had had no plan in fact, had been unable to plan, would be a certainty with Pud at her side. It would never have entered Lillie's mind that she might marry a man for his money. She was an independent woman, and a woman who would not let her money dominate all the children of the neighborhood, as she grew older, she had directed the doings in the Posey household, but like all dominant women, she knew the need of a man who was gentle, yet would never let her dominate him, who would not let her strength and independence, while he loved her for her weaknesses. Pud was that combination of gentleness and strength and his admiration of Lillie and all that she did knew no bounds. Lillie would say a dozen times a day, "Pud's a good man and a fine gentleman," and her audience, wherever it might be, in the mill or on the street, where she lived, or at home, would smile sympathetically and indulgently approve Lillie's head and murmur, "That certainly is a case."

SO IN 1910 Lillie Posey became Lillie O'Dell, and as Lillie O'Dell, she could do what she had been unable to do before. She could plan for Violet, and what was more important, she could begin to give Violet some of the things she wanted her to have. The piano, for instance.

One night, after they had been married about a year, Lillie said to Pud, just before they went off to sleep, "Pud, I'd like to buy a piano."

In the dark Pud had smiled indulgently and reached for her hand. He was alternately amused and proud of Lillie's pride in the long parlor that stretched over the bar and the back room, and that Lillie had refurnished with a matched mission set—the very newest that was to be had, upholstered in genuine leather. "Sure honey," he answered, "go ahead and get yourself one."

So Lillie bought a piano and had it delivered to Juville, where it stood in the parlor in pitiful contrast to the Morris chair, the couch and the huge oil lamp, with red roses on the round shade, which sat on the square table in the center of the room.

Pud protested, "But, Lillie, it's a waste to give Violet music lessons, but why don't you keep the piano here for yourself. Violet could come here and practice."

But Lillie just shook her head. "What would I want with a piano, Pud? When I don't know one note from another and can't carry a tune in a bucket."

"If you sing right nice, Lillie, and I wouldn't hurt Violet to walk across the bridge to practice. I think I'd like hearing her." There was a plaintive note in his answer, so Lillie just smiled and shook her head, and curling up in Pud's lap, took his mind completely off piano. She couldn't

Chapter 5
THE Posey family by that summer of 1914 had attained the peak of economic security in Juville. Violet, unlike her sisters, would not have to begin to work in the mill at fourteen. For Lillie was married to a man who had plenty, and since her marriage had augmented the Posey income periodically. Rose, too, had married a man who would not let her strength and independence, while he loved her for her weaknesses. Pud was that combination of gentleness and strength and his admiration of Lillie and all that she did knew no bounds. Lillie would say a dozen times a day, "Pud's a good man and a fine gentleman," and her audience, head, her fingers fumbling at the pins in her hat.

"I've been thinking, Lillie," he said. "It would be nice if you brought Violet home with us. I'll have the place up a bit since we have no kids of our own, and we can make it nice for her."

Lillie was tired, and she was shaken. There had been no great affinity between her and her mother, but there had been a wrench, a tearing of ties which she felt keenly. If she hadn't been, the horror she felt at Pud's suggestion would not have driven one word the wrong word from her lips. "Here," she cried out, and she knew in the instant of speaking that Pud saw and knew what she thought.

"What's the matter with there?" he demanded. "Maybe it's not good enough for your sister, but I belong here. This is the place for me," but she would only look at him with rising horror in her eyes, knowing that she had done to him and that there was no way to make him understand. For Lillie Posey was very outgoing, and Bradford City was not like Juville. Lillie had known about ancient Gaul being divided into three parts, that is what she would have said had happened in Bradford City.

FIRST there was the Hill. The Bradfords, who owned the steel mills and the pipe mills and the blast furnaces lived on the Hill, surrounded by their relatives, by blood and by marriage, and by those who shared the dividends from the mills with the Bradfords. The big, grand house on the highest part of the Hill and the others surrounded it like satellites around a planet.

Then there was the North End, and there lived the people who served the Bradfords—the school teachers and the bank clerks, the doctors and the lawyers. And down where the Washington House stood was the East End, and here was where the people lived who worked in the mills, the rollers and heaters and puddlers—Pud O'Dell's father had been a puddler in his early days and part of the name had stayed with him and with his son. These were the men whose cheek bones were burned to an Indian red from the heat of the blast furnaces. The Italians and the Slavs and the Irish who had never risen above the laborers or head carvers of the English with their Lannan, or Kenish accents who puddled in the mills; those people who dissatisfied with Juville had struggled to move on but had only ambition enough or strength enough to reach East Bradford and a dead end. For no one moved from East Bradford. The Hill and the North End did not permit it.

"It's a decent, respectable place," Pud was saying, "and I make an honest living. And anyone in Bradford City about Pud O'Dell and the Washington House. Who is that kid anyway that you have such a fancy idea about her being too good for the likes of me and my house. If that's the way you feel about your sister, what are you thinking about yourself. Are you too good for the likes of me?"

He stopped talking and looked in amazement at Lillie. For she was standing opposite him, crying convulsively, but soundlessly, shaken and torn by the force of her own emotions. To herself, Lillie was saying, "What have I done? What have I done? Pud's a good man and a fine gentleman and I've given him a mortal hurt."

At last she raised her arms again and took off the big hat and carried it to the coat closet. Then she turned to Pud. "I'm satisfied with the way things are—just you and me. I don't want more than that. That's the reason I've never minded not having kids of my own, because I'm happy with just the two of us. I want to stay that way, Pud. The rising alarm in her voice was her best weapon, and as Pud pulled himself from his chair and came toward her, she thought, "God will punish me for saying that I don't care for myself, but Pud would have liked a youngster." There was no mention again of Violet's coming to live with them.

Clarendon Firemen Staged Fine Parade and Dancing Party

Clarendon's Fire Department on Saturday held their first annual celebration in an endeavor to raise funds for the improvement of the department and to secure some much needed equipment. There was a large crowd on the beflagged streets and all thoroughly enjoyed the parade.

The pageant formed on Center street and moved over Main. It was headed by the colors and a fine group of service men acted as color guard. The Clarendon Fire Department with their Drum and Bugle Corps under Chief Fessell, Ladies Auxiliary and a truck followed presenting a fine appearance. Sheffield's Department under Chief Charles Slater were next in line and they won many plaudits for their turnout. Kane's department with Chief Patsy Morasco in his car, an emergency truck and beautiful ladder truck, and a marching unit and band followed. Then came the Wilcox Firemen with a laugh provoking turnout with a small hand pump and gay "ladies", the truck of the Department of Forests and Waters was next and then came the spic and span Russell Department presenting a fine appearance. The Clarendon Junior Band with statuting majorettes and the men and equipment of the Clarendon Department won much favor. The band made an especially fine appearance. Gaily decorated bicycles bestrode by young folk brought up the rear. State police held traffic until the parade passed. Warren was not represented in any way in the parade although Clarendon always sends a good turnout to Warren when invited.

Prizes were awarded for the parade features and Kane and Busti were a tie for the best musical unit and largest turnout in line. Kane and Sheffield also tied for the best piece of equipment in line, and Kane and Russell tied for units. Wilcox won the prize for the group coming the longest distance to get in the parade.

The award of the radio was made in front of the Borough Building at 8:30 and Miss LeEllis Knight was the happy recipient of the fine machine.

The ball which was held in the L. O. O. F. Hall was largely attended and the music by The Men About Town was all that could have been desired. The affair was a great success and will be the forerunner of others in the future.

Virginia Mae Smith and R. H. Barnhart Wed In Trinity Church Friday Evening

Trinity Memorial Episcopal church was the scene of a pretty candlelight service at six o'clock Friday evening, when the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge united in marriage Virginia Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Smith, 106 Central avenue, and Richard Healy Barnhart, son of Donald B. Barnhart, 318 Crescent Park.

Candles on the altar were flanked by baskets of white glads, and Miss Jean Robertson, church organist, played softly during the double ring ceremony, which was read in the presence of only the immediate family members.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, was attired in a beige suit accented with black, matching hat, and black accessories. Her double corsage was of pink Briarcliff roses and her only jewelry was a gold bracelet gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Martin H. Smith, Jr., as matron of honor, wore a powder blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow Gloria roses.

Mr. Smith, brother of the bride, was best man for Mr. Barnhart. The bride's mother wore a suit of Nile green with black accessories, and Mrs. Lida Barnhart, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a black and white ensemble. Each had a gardenia corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Smith home. The buffet table was attractively arranged with a low basket of white asters, glads and baby's breath, and silver candelabra. The three-tier wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple. Presiding at the table was Mrs. Robert Schussler, with Mrs. Dennis Cochran assisting in the serving.

For going away, Mrs. Barnhart topped her suit with a matching three-quarter length coat. After a Canadian wedding trip, the newlyweds expect to reside in Washington, Pa., where Mr. Barnhart is a student of mechanical engineering at Washington and Jefferson College.

The bride, graduate of a Philadelphia school of nursing, has been

How Uncle Sam Seeks to Get Houses for Vets

TO SPEED CONSTRUCTION OF NEW HOMES FOR VETERANS, U.S. REGULATIONS JUST PUT INTO EFFECT REQUIRE THAT...

THE NUMBER OF PRIORITY MATERIALS BE INCREASED TO 57 TO INCLUDE ALL SCARCITY MATERIALS NEEDED IN HOUSE-BUILDING. AT LEAST 75 PERCENT OF MATERIALS UNDER PRIORITY MUST BE ALLOTTED TO VETS.

COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL BUILDING BE REDUCED BY MORE THAN 20 PERCENT.

OTHER RESTRICTIONS REGULATE PRODUCTION AND USE OF CAST IRON PIPE TO GET MOST OF IT FOR HOMES

BUT ONE BIG OBSTACLE TO HOUSES-FOR-VETS REMAINS. IT IS THE SLOWNESS OF CONSTRUCTION. THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF HOME BUILDERS, CALLING FOR GOVERNMENT 'EXPEDITING', SAYS THAT IT HAS TAKEN AN AVERAGE OF MORE THAN SIX MONTHS TO BUILD EACH HOUSE THIS YEAR.
